

Resignation Letter Due to bad Behavior of Boss

Today's date

It is with reluctance that I am submitting this letter as the current ongoing situation has left me no choice but to take this step. On the whole, my time with (Company name) and team members have been satisfying and productive. However, for some time, things on the work front is not going well which is making me feel less and less satisfied.

As you must be aware, from the last few months, we have had and still having conflicts, differences of opinion regarding the goals for the company. Due to the consistent difference of opinion, we both are unable to contribute towards the growth of the company. Because of this, many times you didn't adhere to an appropriate company policy in terms of language and behavior. Even my health and mental peace is getting disturbed by the ongoing issue. It is getting increasingly difficult for me to work properly after experiencing unsuitable corporate behavior. Since it is clear to me that you and I will be unable to resolve our differences, therefore, I personally feel that my resignation is the best option for the team and all

This was not an easy decision to make as the past few years or months (Your total experience) has been very rewarding with this company. I have personally enjoyed working for (Your company name) and contributing towards the successful projects. (Here you can enlist the projects you have worked on)

Please accept this letter as my formal resignation. The last day of my employment from my position at (XYZ) will be (date).

Sincerely
